Life.

Life

That's Life.

"So we must love, while these moments are still called today. Take part in the pain of this passion play, stretching out youth as we must until we are ashes to dust, until time makes history of us."

Indigo Girls

Let it never be said that you followed the expected path in life.
Live passionately.
At all costs, be barefoot.
Let your heart pound with excitement or fear
as often as possible.
Make someone think.
Take naps outside.
Make mistakes.
Have moments to yourself to think... a lot.
Go skinny-dipping in a lake.
Love every second of it.
Always look into peoples eyes.
Look hard, you'll be amazed by what you'll see.
Laugh at your insecurities.
Relax.
Yeah, age with style,
but never grow up.
And remember,

"You don't get to choose how you're going to die. Or when. You can only decide how you're going to live.
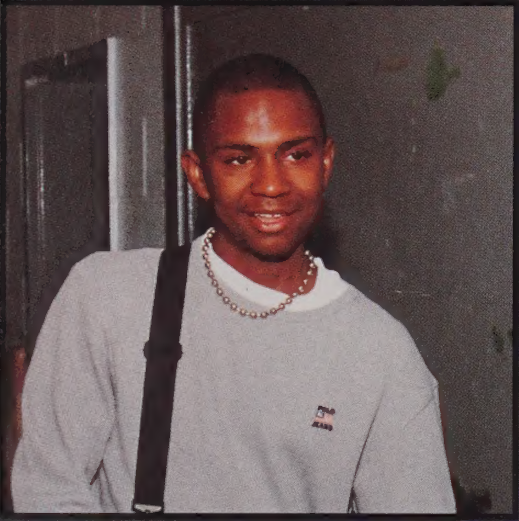
Now."

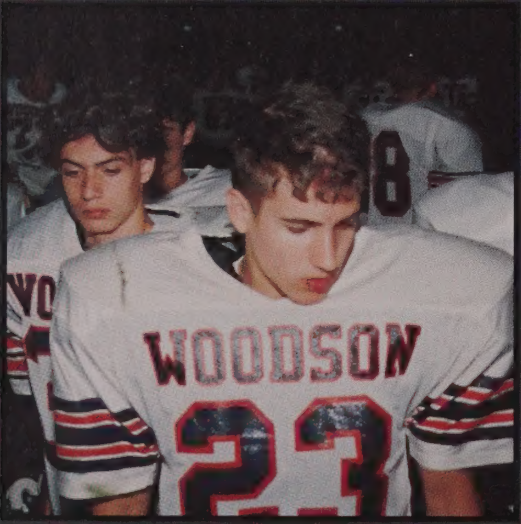
Joan Baez

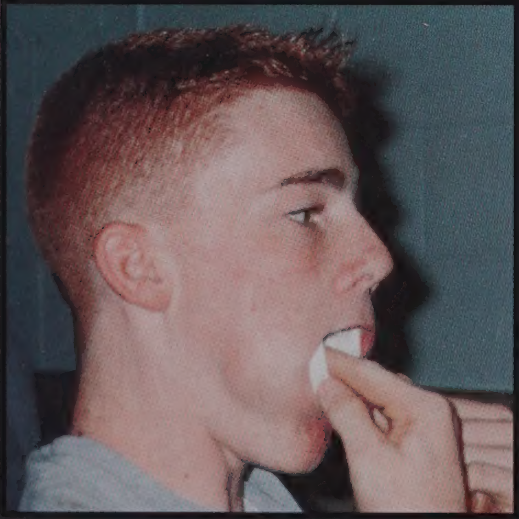
SPONGE

WTV

That's Life.







Whether an optimist, a pessimist, or something in between, the truth is that it takes all kinds to make up this crazy world. Cynics are just as vital to life as those bubbly people who drive you nuts when you are feeling down.

While famous grouches, such as Charles Baudelaire believe that "life is a hospital in which every man is possessed by the desire of changing his bed," lovable characters like Forrest Gump prefer to view life as being "like a box of chocolates." Whichever metaphor you choose, the ultimate outcome of everything from fears to fantasies often depends upon the attitude you take towards life.

So, although no one can tell you how to think, it may help to listen to those who say "smile" when it feels like the hardest thing to do. After all, the advice is the same in every language... "Que sera, sera." (Whatever will be, will be," and "C'est la vie." (That's life.)

BULL RUN

That's Life.

"And in the end, it's not the years in your life, but the life in your years." ~Abraham Lincoln. Often times we feel like we are robots programmed to eat, sleep, and study. But one question remains. What are the most important things high school teaches you? It teaches us what relationships mean, whether it be your first love or your first true friendship. It teaches us to be mature and respect our peers whether you are working with them, playing against them or just sitting by them. Yeah, math, science, and all subjects are important, but, in the end, you realize high school isn't all about sine, World War II or Hemingway, you walk away with many more experiences, memories, and good friends. High School is just an introduction to this adventure we all call Life.

Woodson Life

After spending seven hours of our Life. in classes, we come right back to W.T. Woodson to spend time with our friends. Only this time we create the memories which we will remember as the times of our Life.

"The most essential thing for happiness is the gift of friendship." ~ Sir William Osler

In anticipation of throwing their caps, Cheryl Andrukonis and Denise Alexson turn their tassles.

At the prom, Amy and Jessica O'Byrne share the dance floor.

While they wait for the ceremony to begin, Kristen Lewis and Rosemary Lemkin gaze across the crowd.

Congratulating eachother, classmates Drew Lamb and Laura Mitas get ready to accept their diplomas.

As the ceremony commences, Charles Affourtit, Scott Adcock, and Cody Adams smile at the crowd.

Showing off his flashy socks, Forest Thomas gets ready to escort Lora Shogi to dinner.

The common name for the yearly event that we call "Prom" comes from the British word "promenade," which is defined as "a leisurely walk or ride, especially in a public place for pleasure or display." Promenading is not unlike what we do on our graduation day, for it is a day that entitles us to show pride in our growth and experiences. Prom and graduation are two of our last chances to act like children before we enter the "real world."

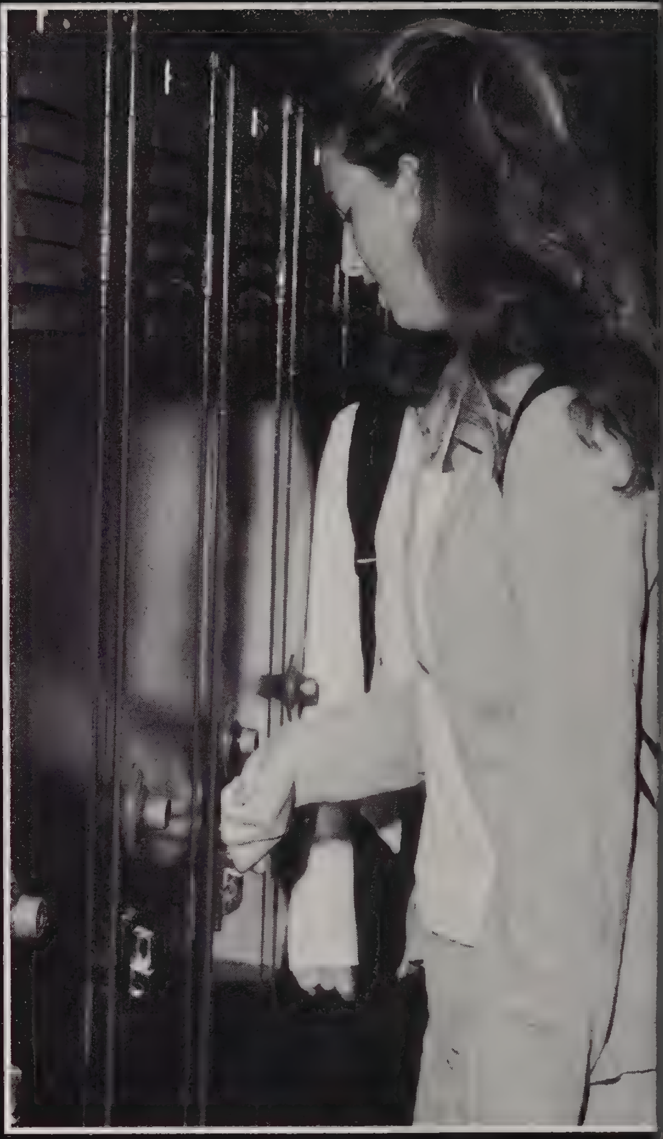
When thinking about the highlights of your summer, you remember a few big ones, especially getting out of school, but then you realize there's also that one place where the sun warms you and the waves cool you, the beach. Many students go to the beach each summer with family or friends. It's a great place to go and get out of town to release pressures, such as school, off your shoulders. The beach offers many fun and exciting attractions from rollerblading on the boardwalk to just sitting in the sun. Whether it's playing in the sand, or sleeping under an umbrella, the beach is a hot spot for all of us to visit.

"All glory comes from daring to begin."

- Eugene F. Wane

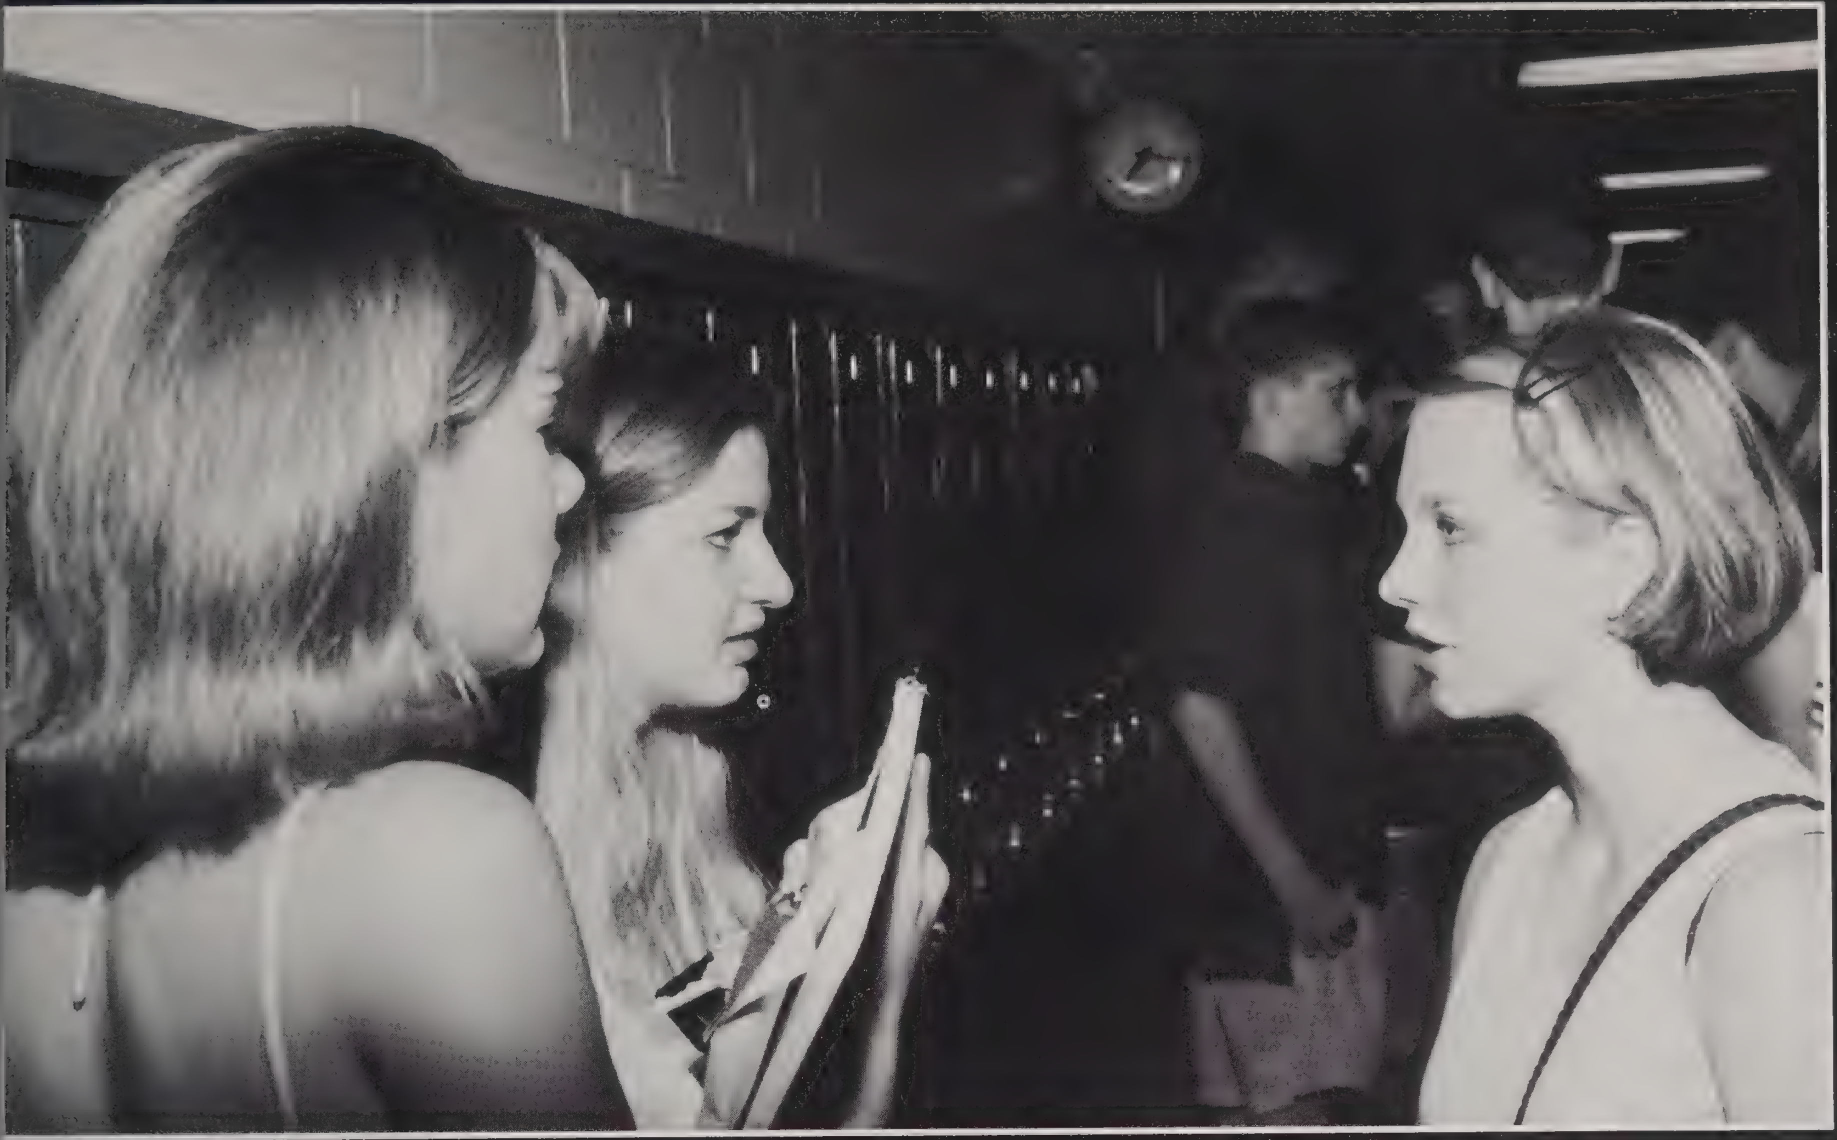
Drawing pictures symbolic of themselves, Michelle Perez and Caroline Payne start on one of their first assignments of the year.

On the first day of school, Joslyn Helmer attempts to open her newly painted locker.



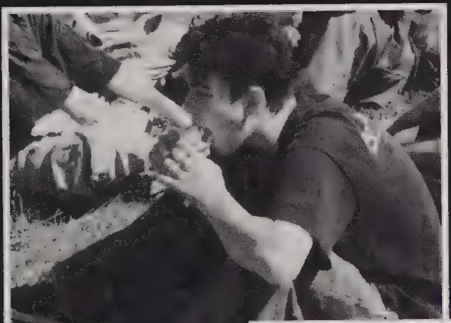
After going through the lunch line, Xiaofan Jiang pays for his meal.

Asking Ms. Darlene Donelson for chemistry help, David Norton finishes his worksheet.



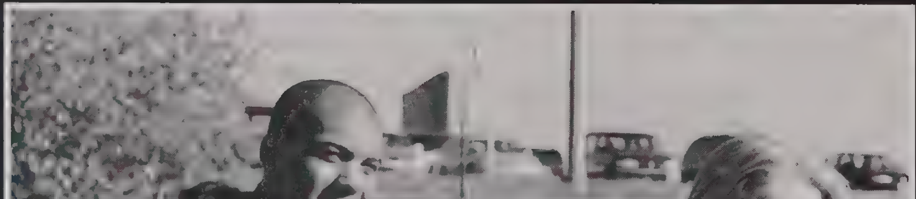
Discussing their summer activities, Jessica Strong, Erin ilkinson, and Kimberly ttmann catch up on missed ne.

Do you remember your first day at Woodson? For some it's impossible, for others it seems just like yesterday. This is especially true for the new kids, the class of 2002. Stumbling around, getting lost, and trying to make sense of all the new confusion is what makes your first day of high school as monumentous as it seems. As many worries as you have, you find you're not the only one. There are others experiencing the same thing, and even more who are willing to offer advice about how they survived. To all freshmen, you've had many "firsts" this year- Powderpuff, Homecoming, sports, elections, clubs, and performances. You still got three more years to come.



"And life itself is but a game at football..." Song [1815], Stanza 5.

Dressed as Superwoman, Megan Hebbe cheers at the Homecoming football game which was held on Halloween.

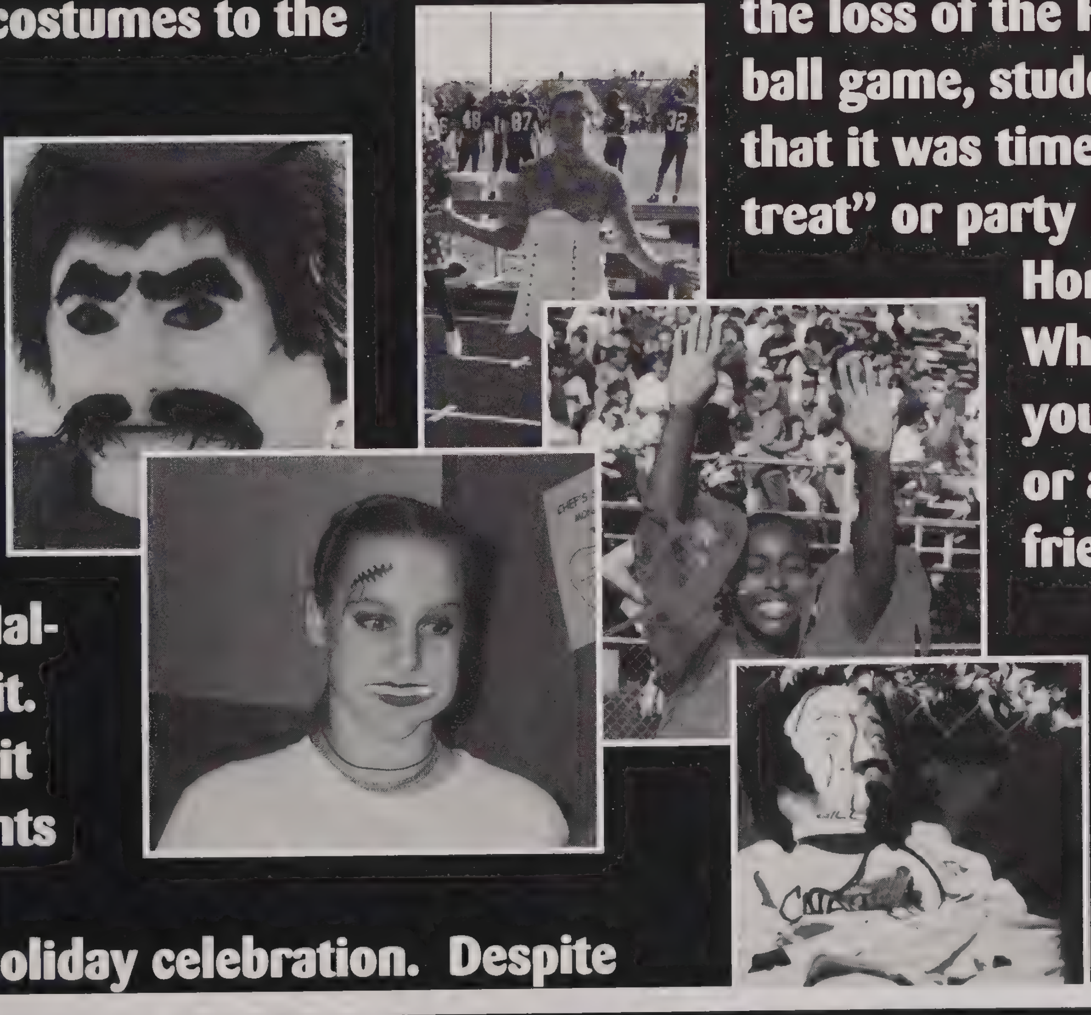


At half time of the homecoming football game, E. Jay Apaga and Ann Springer celebrate their new title as Homecoming King and Queen.

During the half time festivities the Duke and Dutchess, Jason Satterwhite and Kelly Brady, ride around the track in a blue Mustang convertable.

Before the Homecoming football game, Keith Mangan, Douglas Flood, Steven Siclari, and Travis Krempa line up for the National Anthem.

At the upper classmen Powder Puff game, Brett Roper and Brendan Donovan lead the dance routine.



From the costumes to the orange and black decorations, this year Woodson's Homecoming was filled with Halloween spirit. During spirit week students dressed to match the holiday celebration. Despite the loss of the Homecoming football game, students left knowing that it was time to "trick or treat" or party hardy at the Homecoming dance. Whether it was just you and your sweetie or a bunch of your friends, Woodson students celebrated this year's Halloween in a various aray of interesting activites.

“The Day of Spirit...”

- Henry Vaughan

Enjoying the games of the Carnival, Mr. Tim Hudenberg helps his daughter find the lucky duck.

While joking around at the dance, Gregory Hinnant and Arthur Ashley enjoy the music.

At 9:00 a.m. Saturday, October 31st, the Homecoming Day festivities began as the freshmen duke and duchess rode along in their convertible. Followed by the rest of the homecoming court, the parade was underway. Starting out in the Woodson parking lot and winding its way through nearby neighborhoods, the parade ended back at Woodson. Participants in the parade threw candy to young onlookers. The parade was composed of the band, the homecoming court as well as clubs, teams, and class floats. However, the parade had one setback. For the first time in Woodson's history, the senior float was left behind. It fell off the truck.

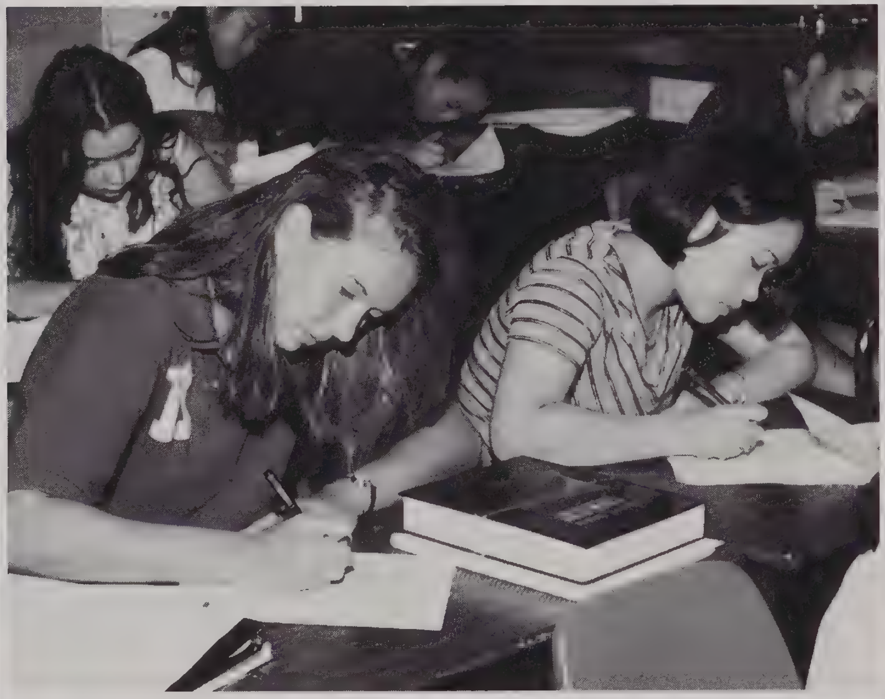
SOPHOMORES

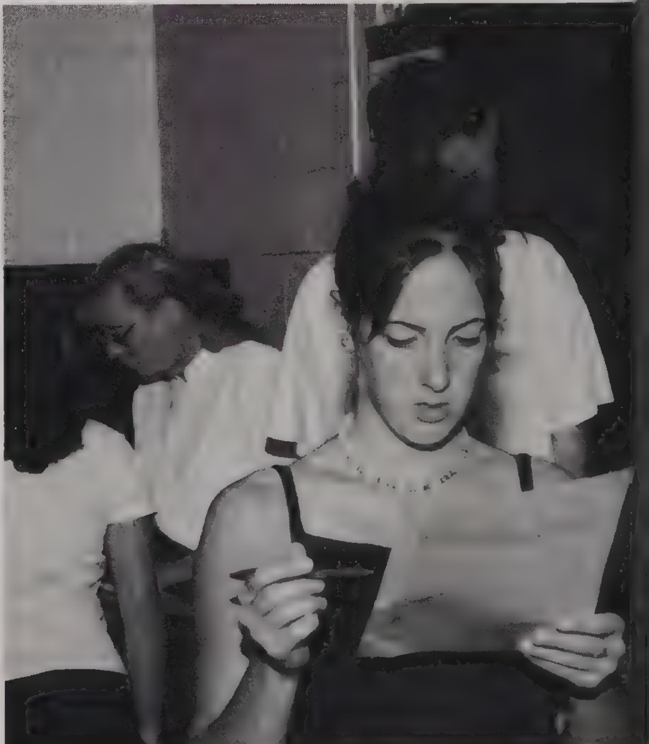
Competing in sumo wrestling, the homecoming queen nominations participate in the pep rally.

While playing fluffy bunny, Colette Zai takes her turn.

Twister, Pictionary, and Pin the Tail on the Donkey are all fun games that we have played at parties. The Limbo is the ultimate test of strength and flexibility. We have played it a million times in class competitions and parties. Winning a Limbo contest and knowing you can bend your back further than anyone in the room proves you are the best. The repetitive beat starting with the key word "Limbo," instantly lines people up ready to bend their bodies in odd ways. If you and your friends are ever bored and you are all Twistered-out, just remember one word "Limbo."

Facts of Life





Day in, day out, five days a week, over 1700 students walk through the halls of W. T. Woodson High School. Whether studying, acting, or just taking a break, we define Life. at Woodson.

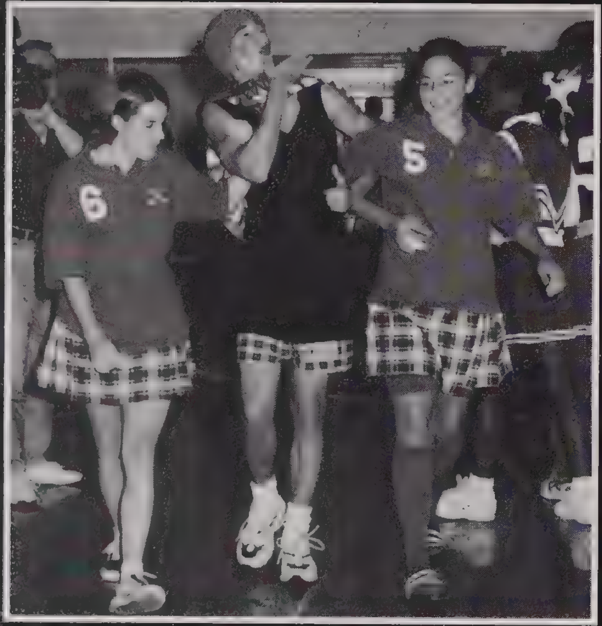
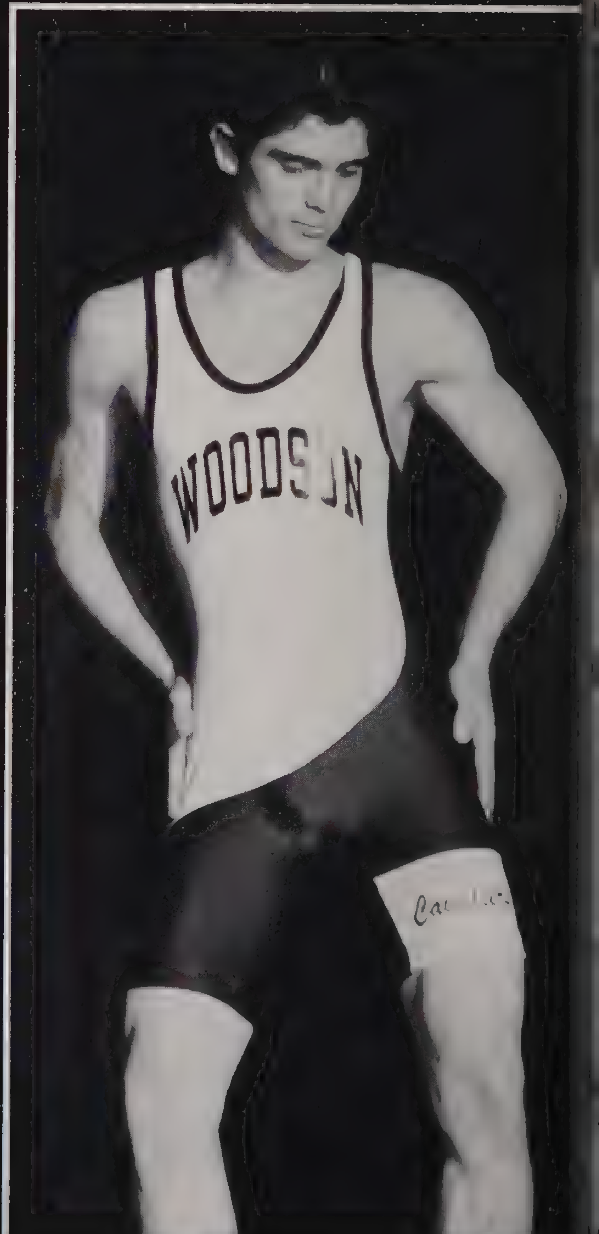
Class of 1999

Freshmen, Freshmen, Rah, Rah, Rah!

We started our new high school lives with anticipation and fright. We began by decorating our class hallway with 50's decor and competed in class competitions. We attended our first school dance and witnessed the crowning of the homecoming king and queen. That year we were off school for over a week, due to the Blizzard of '96, that showered us with snow and ice, and left us with no Sadies. The year progressed as we tried out for school sports and activities. The school year was extended five long days because of the weather that we had enjoyed during the winter.





And when we get together we do the JUNIOR call! Our class won the float-making contest with our theme "Toasting the Colonials," for the second year in a row. Our football team broke the streak and won their first game in 2 years. As we became upper classmen, we hosted Sadies. Trying something new, the class officers changed the dance to "Club Woodson." We went through the year without snowdays, but experienced more rain because of El Nino. We hosted Mr. Woodson. We finished our year by going to prom and saying good-bye to the seniors of 1998.

All good Sophmores go to heaven!

We started float making again, and our class won, beating both the juniors and seniors. During Powder Puff we crushed the freshman 47-0 and sent some of the girls to the hospital. We saw Red Jenkins off to his last year of coaching at Woodson. Our girls soccer and lacrosse teams won the state championships. We started block scheduling for the first year to help prepare for college, and struggled to stay awake through extra long classes. Some of us earned our licenses and were able to drive around with our friends.

Rah! Rah! SENIORS!

We started the year with overfilled classes and freshman buddies. We went to the senior lock-in and played on the moonbounce, while listening to our fellow students perform with their bands. Together we dressed our best and went to homecoming, which was held on Halloween. We struggled with our classes, as we focused our attention on college. Our lives were changing in ways we had no idea they would. Our high school life began to close, as our adulthood began. Over the past four years we created Life. at Woodson.

Any last words?

Logan Abrams-Sunshine brings spring flings.

Melissa Adams- Stern pair love affair will never die. Pretty girls- thank you for four great years, row hard forever- I'll see you on the water. May the future hold success for you all. Adios mis michinios, se amo, siempre.

Alexis Alexander- The type of music you blast out of your car is crucial! F.G.'s Forever! I will never forget The Clique! Oh, and Heather watch out for those dark hallways.

Emily Amanna- “But then they danced down the streets like dingle-dodies, and I shambled after as I've been doing all my life after people who interest me, because the only people for me are the mad ones, the ones who are mad to live, mad to talk, mad to be saved, desirous of everything at the same time, the ones who never yawn or say a common place thing, but burn, burn, burn like fabulous yellow roman candles exploding like spiders across the stars and in the middle you see the blue center light pop and everyone goes ‘Aww’.”--Jack Kerouak
And now it's my turn, Little Amanna, Benji, I pass the torch...

Mohammad Amer- Remember the past. Look to the future. Live in the now. SAA all the way.

Caitlin Andrea- Italian, Greek and German blood run through my veins. My ancestors would be stunned if they could see me when I fly out of here to an intensely higher level: The spotlight.

E. Jay Apaga- Well Woodson, this be it, 4 and out. I've had a good time working for you all and acting like an idiot, but Mom says it's time for college. You know how Edna is. Before I go though, anyone want to come over and have a soda? Hey J.P. it tastes like water! Thanks for the ride Woodson.

Siddharth Arora- Punjabiz represent!!

Caroline Ault- The friendships we have today will be with us forever because time doesn't erase love. F. Magee, did you take the stairs again? Ali Bros, Kristen, Deaners, where are we sleeping tonight? Why do all of you want to drive my car? I'll miss all of you! Thanks f the memories!

David Norton- If a beaver that is two feet tall with a one and a half foot tail can build a dam twelve fee high and six feet wide, it would onl take a sixty eight foot beaver with fifty-one foot tail to build the Bould Dam.

O

Shannon Olive-I’m not Alvin, I’m not Simon and I’m not Theodore!! We’ll find it someday Sandra. Jo-J can we go to your house and eat? Hey Reymer, I mean...Sorry!Rach Orf-Goodbye W.T.W. Rebecca, I’ll never forget our sessions at your house. We will continue our fun in N.C. Michelle, my bell. To all you rising seniors, watch out for Nancy L.B.C. represent! I’ll never forget m rst love...I'll miss everyone who

'as real, you know who you are.

P

ang-rok Park- COME TO SCHOOL! [illegible]

lichael Parker-"Much is required om there to whom much is given ır their responsibility is greater and › whom men commit that much to, ıat much more will be asked of [illegible]
m." -Luke 12:48

ose Pernicano-Live each day to ıe fullest, every moment counts!
ye Woodson!

lichael Phalan-That man is my xact double!... That dog has a puffy ıil! He, he, he, her puff he, he.
YYesssss, ha, ha, ha heey yoooo!

eoffrey Poor-You my friend/ I will efend/ and if we change/ well I'll ve you anyway. We will find a way.
rop the leash we are young. Get ıt of my...face. Delight in your outh, paint my house, 'tsall good.
IFC, yo, I'm out.

ames Powderly- An Irishman is ever done as long as he can hold n to one blade of grass and not fall f the face of the earth.

rew Prout- Lots of people talk, ome of them know, the soul of the oman was created below.

Suzanne Quartuccio- So, Justin, what are you doing later? Pooky, you'll always be my best friend. I love you girls, P'nettes-you rock! Thanks for everything Woodson.

Michael Quasney- I can't believe she ate the whole thing. Bussa Meg Klein. Yes... So what are we going to do tommorrow night Zo? What exactly are you crushing?

R

Akhil Rastogi- Bang fuzz!! Yeaah seatbelts from Chicago. Deepa!! JB, our squishy turnip song rocks! Byrd, Glenbrooks last year was awesome!! Ramma? Hey R. your purple shirt rules! Chow saan! Yeaaah Asian people!! Speechies (and debaters of course) rule!!

Adam Rathe- When I dare to be powerful- to use my strength in the service of my vision, then it becomes less and less important whether I am afraid.

Eric Reymer- No Man, I don't want to stay at my house again. Down for a little game of B's up? Boats, Boats, Boats, No Matt, it's your turn to buy. Odd to Trayers. Shannon, so what are you going to do? Peace Fellas, Later Woodson.

Daniel Rice-I do believe they think I'm some sort of god. Something from the meat case, Linda? We have our first fracas of the season. I don't care what anyone has to say about that, because I am out of here!

Justine Roberts- "Why am I telling you this? Because you can. Because you're not the strangest person in the room. So go ahead, get weird on me."--Ally Mcbeal. Food brings us together.

Isobel Roberts- If it is to be it is up to me!

Patrick Ronan- David F. Yeung- The back seat works! Doug- Class Dismissed. Dudik- IF wishes were fishes then beggars would ride. Griff TB- Her head was in the box!!!

Brett Roper-"Avoid the clap. Triple Play!! I would rip her to pieces." Number 12. Clepto "Abercrombie. Farmer and Kogan- you'll snatch one. Farmer and bike shorts, what a combo!

John-Paul Royal- Oh baby, I like it RAW...NO WAY! I'm not driving!!.... I don't know what you boys are complaining about, it tastes like water to me.

Matthew Rozett- To all the people who know me: thanks for being my friend. Good luck and see you in the future!

Philip Rudder- The crew team should get more publicity than the football team...crew at least wins once in a while. WHAT?! All right, all right thats your deal. Dude that's Beast. SAIL!

Robert Russell- Fight the good fight of faith...Paul.

Michael Ryan- My style's immeasurable, so put away your ruler.

Jessica Sabbath- There are always two choices, two paths to take. One is easy. And its' only reward is that it is lazy.

Paul Sarigianis- Yeeaaahhh....... senior quotes. No, really this year would have been just like any other without my friends always there. I hope I know you guys for the rest of my life.

Jenny Seifert- "When trouble comes your soul to try, you love the friend who just "stands by."- B.Y. Williams. You all have helped me through the toughest time of my life and I just want to thank you for you support, memories, and friendship. God Bless all of you! Hey Allison, Leslie, Kelly, and Brian...how about some whoopie!

Emily Selph- MMMOOOO! Ask me if I am a carrot. To many more Dave trips! Also, special thanks with AAC & SMC... you guys will never be replaced. I love you all bunch!

Nina Semendy- We've had some crafty times. Much luv to my sistas #1 and #2 and to the rest of my girls. Keep on honking Featrier. Love you guys so much.

Anthony Severo- Freaking out is a process whereby an individual casts off outmoded and restricting standards of thinking, dress is social etiquette in order to express creatively his relationship to his immediate environment and the social structure as a whole. By Frank Zappa 1966.

David Shakibnia- So long Woodson. Can't say I'll miss you.

Timothy Sheehy- Hey guys; if I fall asleep first, I better not wake up with Lora Shogi- The legacy goes on and the legend continues.Word.

Charles Smith- ......Nothing like alittle OPB and the "party P" with the "PPC".

Justin Solomon- So, are you busy later? Cause I was thinking... ya know...What are my choices? This line will be the greatest tool for you underclassmen. Just don't make the big mistake: Michelle I've got a question...get out! Are you hungry CL? Give it up you! And I'm not Jewish.

Ann Springer- "The greatest gift is a portion of thy self." --Emerson. Thanks for all the wonderful memories Woodson. Take care and God bless.

Cinnamon Stanley- It's my party and I'll cry if I want to!

Jeffrey Stanley- A bird in the hand is worth two in the blender. I used to feel sorry for myself because I had no shoes, but then I met a man who had no feet, so I took his shoes. If a picture is worth a thousand words, we've all earned quite enough pictures.

Heather Steiner-McFeather@LLOL.com Clique #2, #3...we cover it all....A-B&C! HESS rules the beach! In the debate over Comfort vs. Sex Appeal, Sex Appeal takes the cake....mmmmm death-by-chocolate-cake. Laugh out loud to my TeNnIsChIcAs, "We may be fat, but they're ugly, and we can diet"=). F.G.'s 4-Eva! LOL :).

David Strauss- There is a thin line between justice and vengeance.

Benjamin Sterling- Details, Details, Details... send more tourists...the last ones were delicious.

Jessica Strong- We barely have time to react in this new world let alone rehearse and I don't think I'm better than you, but I don't think I'm any worse.

Kathleen Stupec- Life is a journey, not a guided tour. "Contrariwise" continued Tweedledee, "If it was so, it might be: and if it were so it would be: but as it isn't it ain't." That's logic so set your dreams high and remember it's the second star to the right and on till morning.

Daniel Suk- J-in's a supermodel?! Much love to all my boys and girls. Study hard and stay strong in faith. Lena: smile.

T

Anne Tejano- It's a daisy! Oooooh...that's so cute! I'm sorry! ....I can't...I'm busy. Me? Smiling? No way.

Jessica Tiahrt- No, it's T-HEART! And yes, we have running water in Kansas.

Brian Tinklepaugh- There is a tide

Yvette Tong- Ah, the memories. Hey guys, where's Brazil?! Melissa.....So then he went blah blah blah! Mi Hen, Milten, Mi Hen, Milten. Julie, do I have this right... OH! Ohhhh! Oh!? So many memories from just 4 years. I luv ya guys! Oh yeah, how about that Boston?! Ciao!

Christopher Trayers- Even to Reymer... Fine, if you don't want t play with me I'll take my ball and g home..... Yo, Weave, are you sure she's cool with it? Have fun with Newman next year.

Andrew Trivizas- Quotes are due today? What quotes?

Sarah Van Antwerp- Choices and decisions shape and reshape our lives.

Gwendoline Van Doosselaere- Despite having moved away not having been able to spend my senior year with my best friends, they are still the closest people to me —Dianne+Alex, Erika, Katie, Mark, Joanna, Jessica, Russel, Michelle, Clayton, Christie, Kristen Missey and ESPECIALLY Michael Pablo Van Winkle- I used to be ju like you until I stopped caring abou what the others think.

evin Wade- Since anything I say ould be stupid, I am going to just uote Lagwagon: "Cause you miss nother time when all your friends ere divine now all of them are gone r changed Do you still live in Angry ays?"

ennifer West- Senior year is the st class of high school before you o on to real life. So, it should be e best year of your life.

athryn Westcott- Life moves fast. you don't stop and look around, u might miss it.

onald White- What a debacle.

usan Whitford- "Our souls have vented our minds, so to speak with e object of registering conscious periences, and therefore the more eply an experience is felt the etter our minds are carrying out the tention of our souls."- Aleister rowley arah Wilcox- Coming to the edge nowhere, daydreaming of nconciousness, the closer that I t, the further I am gone. Hey stin, what are you doing later? hy am I always so cold?

ereth Whithey- Hey you, I've got a ne to pick with ya! Man, I swear, at wasn't the evil eye. I'm not ean, I'm just straightforward, ess you have to know me. anielle- 1...2...3..SHUT UP! Was at my window you were pounding ? Barbie- All I can say is I love you forever. Ned- It finally happened. I love you...best friends for 5 years.

Erin Wiilkinson- For the last time, I'm not Heidi!

Lauren Williams- What? White girl, black girlInc., at your service. I am sooo tired. I have problems. Where are the dictionaries? Oh no! Yes, I will be precistionetting at the game tonight. "Suitcases and hat cases..." Gump!

Adam Wolf- Sleep! That's where I'm a viking!

Class Of 2000

Often, junior year is the year of self-discovery. At this time, many people begin searching out the erfect college, have had a job or two, and start to think bout plans for the future. The great thing about being junior is that you have some idea of what to do with our Life., yet you still have time to be a teenager. The nd of the year brings relief for some, but a little nxiety, too, for you are about to be the big girls and uys on campus. It is your time to shine!

sophomores

After two years of high school, there is so much to look back on and so much to look foward to at the same time. While you know the ins and outs of high school life and leisure, most of you have yet to experience the excitement of getting a license, going to prom, taking SAT's... well, some things are more exciting than others. The future may seem endless: you probably wonder how you will make it through two more years, but believe it or not, time does fly. Some think of sophomore year as the last year to really act like a kid, so live it up!

Class Of 2002

Until you enter the realm of high school, what goes on there and how different from middle school is a big mystery. Rumors of being stuffed into your lockers and being picked on endlessly probably gave you some butterflies. Once you arrive, you may be disappointed, excited, overwhelmed... the experience differs for everyone. When you are a senior, you may hardly remember this year, but enjoy it while it lasts. Whether you feel at home or like you are on some strange unknown planet at the end of freshman year, one thing is for sure: you have entered a brand new stage of life... welcome to the high school zone!

Slice of Life

While we may not always have time to pay close attention to this ever-changing world, part of life is being aware of what is happening around us, outside of our own small circle of friends and family. Our lives are influenced as much by what happens to others as they are by what happens to us. Just as we look to history for guidance, someday our lives and present events wil become the history that people of the future will turn to. The stories contained within these pages deal with everything from space travel t Swing dancing, reflecting the wide interests of our dynamic student body, the infinite changes we witness taking place, and the effects we are bound to have on lives yet to come.

The Life of Woodson High School

by Meghan Callahan

Although it may be hard to believe, W.T. Woodson High School is twice as old as some of the seniors in the class of '99. In the fall of 1962, Woodson opened its doors for the first time, welcoming students from Hayfield to Centreville.

Woodson was opened as a result of overcrowding at nearby Fairfax and Annandale High Schools. Its original boundaries encompassed the areas from the beltway to Loudoun County south of route 236 and from route 236 to the Occoquan River.

As Woodson's population increased, so did its reputation. In its early years, Woodson created a legacy for itself by winning championships in sports such as basketball, swimming, baseball, and football. Back in the late 1960's, Woodson and Annandale were the top two football rivals in northern Virginia.

Today, Woodson continues its legacy by winning awards in chorus, band, speech and debate, sports, and sportsmanship among other things. Every year, the school's population grows, with each student adding his or her own touch to Life at Woodson.

More Rights for Students

by Elizabeth Tarrant

Every fall when we return to Woodson for another year of education, we are all used to hearing the Student Rights and Responsibilities lecture. Since the days of middle school, the rules haven't really changed...until this year.

For the 1998-99 school year, the school board has modified students' rights and decided to cut the students some slack. The main examples of such changes deal with the rules concerning pagers and aspirin on school grounds.

Last year, if someone was caught with a pager in his or her pocket, locker, or car, or on school grounds at any time, he or she would be suspended, their pager would be confiscated, and police charges would be pressed.

This year, state laws have changed. Students are now allowed to carry pagers and cellular phones to sports games, after school, and other extra curricular activities after 2:05 pm. Also, the penalties for having a pager in school are less severe. Instead of suspension or police charges occurring, the pager or cellular phone is taken until the end of the day. Andrea Barbery believes that "It is good that we are allowed to carry pagers after school. Students have such versatile lifestyles and dynamic schedules that communication is important. I think a lot of others feel the same way."

Bringing over-the-counter drugs such as aspirin and Tylenol to school is another topic that has been changed since last year. Having these medicines in school used to be considered a drug offense in the same category as possession of marijuana and alcohol. While distributing non- prescription drugs is still an offense punishable by suspension, possessing these drugs without sharing them is now permitted. Now, punishment varies on a case to case basis, but it will no longer be as serious of an offense as being caught with an illegal substance. Katie Goodwin was excited to hear that headache medicines are now allowed on school grounds, saying: "So many people get headaches during the day and instead of going home, now they can keep learning."

Many students have similar attitudes about these changes to Woodson's school policy, saying that there is no harm in having pagers after school and when used correctly aspirin is helpful. This goes to show that times are changing. Thank you school board!!!

Patriotic Duty?

An editorial by Eric Judycki

Since the mid-1800's, Americans have been reciting the "Pledge of Allegiance," a symbol of patriotism found nationwide. This tradition has been carried out all over; in schools, boy/girl scout meetings, and just about everywhere else. Everyone knows it and can say it in their sleep. The only problem is that's exactly what the school wants to happen: a forced patriotic belief without foundation. And after years of not reciting the pledge at school, people do and will have objections.

Many people feel as though we never should have stopped saying the pledge in the first place, so there wouldn't have to be any change. Others believe that it is a superficial and trivial part of our daily routine at school. Showing one's patriotism everyday is about as educational as wearing a hat in class.

"What's up with that stuff about God, man? It's ridiculous. It wasn't even in the original pledge," exclaimed the distraught Graham Collins. Here we have the religion argument. What in the world ever happened to separation of church and state? We have students referring to God daily, almost as if in prayer. This is offensive to many people due to their religious beliefs, which they have a right to keep in school (or out of it, depending on how you look at it) whether or not it is the majority of the school's feeling.

Although students are given the choice to participate in reciting the pledge, many teachers frown upon the "anti-American" action of choosing not to do so. Those of us who do decide not to participate are told to respect those who are, and herein lies the problem. Many teachers seem to believe that you need to stand up in order to show this respect to others even though, constitutionally, we can sit down if we choose to do so. Remaining seated during the pledge, however, can lead to patriotic lectures by your teachers, so students: think for yourselves with caution.

Home Run Derby

by Nick Reddig

In the summer of 1998, a new generation of baseball heroes was born. Big league sluggers Mark "Big Mac" McGwire and "Swinging" Sammy Sosa made an epic assault on the regular season home run record. This record, previously held by Roger Maris, was once thought to be untouchable. Both men blew by Babe Ruth's 60 home runs and marched past Maris' 61 runs. Sammy Sosa finished with 66 home runs and Mark McGwire with 70. "I've amazed myself that I've stayed in such a tunnel for so long throughout what I had to deal with as far as the media, the expectations, almost every eye in the country watching," said McGwire.

McGwire's duel with Sammy Sosa enthralled fans down the stretch, and he ended his season four runs ahead of Sosa. "He's provided moment after moment after moment, it's been unbelivable theater," St. Louis Cardinals manager Tony La Russa said.

While McGwire's team did not advance to the playoffs, Sammy Sosa led the Chicago Cubs to their first playoff appearance since the late 80's. The home run battle went right down to the wire, both men refusing to give up. For the first time in many years the nation was captivated with the "American pastime." Televison networks covered all of the Cardinals and Cubs games, as the two sluggers grew closer to breaking the record. Sellout crowds filled stadiums to catch one of the historic home runs.

The battle was an example of good sportsmanship at its finest. The magazine Sports Illustrated honored Sosa and McGwire as the Sportsmen of the Year, since the two men often complimented each other with an unprecedented amount of mutual respect. For a country sick of scandal, the home run contest proved to be a salve for the soul of the United States.

"ROAD RAGE" ALL THE RAGE

by Christina Butler

You're late for work so your driving is a little sloppy. Accidentally, you cut off another driver and the next thing you know, you're being forced off the road. You have just become another victim of road rage.

For high school students learning how to drive, the chance of other drivers losing their tempers can be scary according to Alina Hernandez, who says: "When I first started to learn how to drive, it was really tense, especially with all the aggressive drivers around here."

Kelly Myers agrees that new drivers commonly make mistakes, sometimes with the wrong people, which results in their becoming victims of the ever growing problem of road rage.

"One time I accidentally cut this guy off because he didn't have his turn signal on and I had no idea he was going to turn. Then he started following me, honking, and flashing his brights. It was really scary," Myers states.

Road rage is sometimes expressed verbally or by honking a horn or flashing lights, but too often it is expressed physically. Typical road rage behavior includes passing on the right, running stop signs and traffic lights, speeding, tailgating, and weaving in and out of traffic.

Over the past few years, road rage has increasingly become a problem. According to the American Automobile Association (AAA), the number of road rage incidents has increased at least 7% each year since 1990. Road rage now accounts for almost two thirds of all traffic related deaths.

Some advice from the AAA: if you become a victim of road rage, get out of the way if possible. Do not challenge aggressive drivers by speeding up or holding your lane, ignore any hand gestures or verbal abuse, and report the car descriptions and license plate numbers of aggressive drivers. Follow the laws of the road, use turn signals when changing lanes and when turning, change lanes only when necessary, avoid eye contact with other drivers, use the horn sparingly, and keep music at a level that does not annoy others.

Lauren Butler offers the following advice: "Be a defensive driver, not an offensive driver. You never know who could have an attitude problem."

The Internet: Man's (And Woman's) New Best Friend

by Jess Gladis

Click here--> to enter the complex world of the Internet. As the turn of the century quickly approaches, the new hotspot is online, where shoppers, job applicants, and sports fans alike gather to access every type of information imaginable. The elaborate World Wide Web now dominates the attention spans of millions everywhere.

One aspect of the Internet, admired by many users, is the free e-mail it offers. Sites such as www.goplay.com and www.hotmail.com allow even the most experienced Internet user to set up his or her own e-mail account and communicate for absolutely no charge. Austin Hill said: "Having an account on goplay is cool because I can check my mail from any computer with Internet access." Many sites also offer free chat rooms where live conversations take place by the mere touch of keys.

Despite several beneficial aspects of this new tool, some episodes have arisen in which the Internet has served as a connection to inappropriate and even illegal sites. Term papers can be downloaded at no cost just as easily as pornography can be viewed. To prevent these types of sites from being accessed, programs like NetNanny, CyberPatrol, and SurfWatch were created. These software programs, most commonly installed into computers in schools and homes with children, block access to sites deemed "inappropriate" by their creators, who strive to protect children from viewing illicit sites.

Used for various purposes, the Internet is quickly becoming a way of life. Companies and organizations are able to post want ads, statistics and other data for the entire world's viewing. College applicants can take a college preparation test and fill out applications by way of it. Car and house hunters can find just what they are looking for by conducting an extensive search. As technology continues to expand, the Internet continues to become bigger, better, and faster. Enigmatic and powerful, this tool's horizons have yet to be discovered as does its 21st century counterpart.

Amazing Scientific Discoveries of 1998

*A planet orbiting Gliese 876, a star with a third the mass of the sun, was recently discovered. This increases the possibility that there are more planets near our solar sytem.

*Since the discovery in Minnesota of hundreds of deformed frogs, people from Canada, Wisconsin, and other areas have reported similar frog deformities. These discoveries may reveal a great deal about the harmful effects of pesticides used by farmers.

*In Argentina, the first ever fragments of dinosaur skin to be found were identified in fossilized sauropod eggs.

*Scientists have discovered how to cultivate stem cells, the building blocks of organs and other body tissues. This means that scientists may soon be able to repair and manufacture any of the body's 200 necessary types of tissue.

*There may be water on the moon! The spacecraft Lunar Prospector found evidence of up to 6 billion tons of frozen water on the moon. This ice, believed to be a piece of a comet, may contain clues about how our solar system evolved.

-On Tuesday, January 26, 1999, W.T. Woodson received official notification that it has become an authorized IB school.

-The International Baccalaureate program offers special features in addition to the requirements of the traditional high school curriculum.

-Only a little over 750 other schools in the world are official IB approved educational facilitators.

-The purpose of the IB program is to create an international standard for education.

-The subject requirements for the IB diploma are English Literature and Writing, Foreign Language, Individuals and Societies, Experimental Sciences, mathematics, arts and electives.

Simply Swing

by Mary Rothlisberger

The Bop, the Lindy Hop, the Jitterbug, the Balboa. Goodbye Macarena, hello Swing! Over the summer of 1998, an old style of dancing reemerged: the fast paced, jumping jiving style known as Swing dancing.

From school dances to television, Swing is showing it's face everywhere. The Gap put out its television commercial "Khaki Swing," which portrays people dancing Swing in khakis. Speech and Debate offered Swing lessons after school for five dollars. Swing clubs are springing up all over the country, instruction is being offered at numerous locations, and people everywhere are talking about it.

"It looks really fun. I'd like to take lessons when I have some free time," said Andrew Donahoo.

Initially, Swing originated from country western dances such as the Texas Tommy and the Charleston, although Ska music is said to have sparked the reawakening of this quick-footed dance this time around.

"I think the revival of Swing dancing is wonderful. It's nice that this dance from the 1930's could be brought back into style. I'm loving it." said Kyle Varholak.

With eight different styles and many more moves, Swing is one of the most exhilarating types of dance around according to the U.S. Swing Dance Server. What started out as the simple "Jitterbug," (the original Swing) has branched out into various dances such as the Shag, Boogie Woogie, East Coast Swing, Rope Hustle, Beach Bop, and many more. The freestyle manner with which Swing is performed allows the leader to incorporate different moves into the dancing, like the pretzel, aerials, or the dip; therefore making Swing dancing spontaneous and invigorating.

"I think that Swing dancing is great. Swing is new, challenging, and unique," said E . Jay Apaga.

Various groups such as the Brian Setzer Orchestra and Cherry Poppin' Daddies have incorporated the Swing dance beat into their music. Even some Christian groups, such as the W's, play Swing music.

"It's just great. The music is so upbeat and happy. It makes you reall want to dance," said Rebecca Folmar. "At first, you're not so sure about it, but once you try it you're hooked. It's clean, fun to do, and it looks awesome."

Returning to the Stars

by Matt Whiting

The oldest astronaut to ever walk the earth got a second chance in space. On January 16, 1998, NASA announced the appointment of John Glenn as a member of the crew of the Space Shuttle Discovery for shuttle mission STS-95 scheduled for October 29, 1998. Glenn served as a payload specialist and a subject for basic research on how weightlessness affects the body of an elderly person. Senator John Glenn, 77, became the oldest person to travel to space when he boarded Space Shuttle Discovery for a ten-day mission.

Glenn, born July 18, 1921 in Cambridge, Ohio, is noted for being the first American astronaut to orbit the Earth. The mission aboard the Friendship 7, which took place on February 20, 1962, lasted only three orbits (four hours 55 minutes) but was an important milestone in the development of the United States space program. In returning to space, Glenn served as the human test subject while the crew investigated how the older body reacts to the conditions of space.

"I think it's a great achievement for him, and I'm sure that people will admire him for years to come," says Dong Chow of Glenn's effort to help search for the cures of many elderly discomforts.

Other critics, however, were not too optimistic about the accomplishment of this mission's goals. Many supporters believe that this mission was simply a personal relations stunt arranged by NASA to attract the public's attention to their program. "I think it is unfair to the other younger, more qualified astronauts," says Kelly Brady. "It is clear that this mission has little to do with aiding elderly research and simply serves as a way to catch the public's fleeting eye."

Whether a scientific study or an elaborate public relations stunt, Glenn's new mission definitely caught the public's attention. Glenn's much anticipated return to space after a four decade absence from space travel served as a way for him to further man's knowledge of space. The outcome of his mission, finding out what space can teach us about growing old on earth, may one day help provide the possibility of longer lives to human beings.

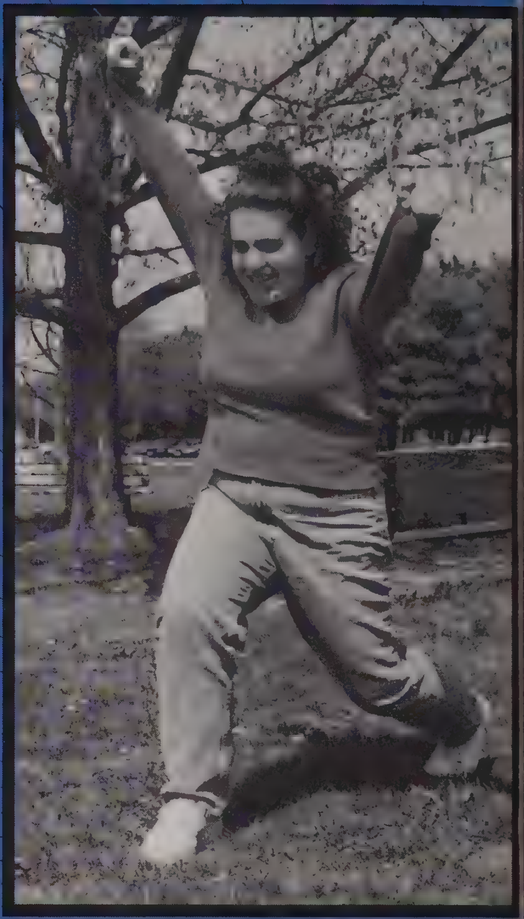
Roll Call

"Thank You"



Hello...hello? um, hello. Guys...yeah, Hello!

Sit down and be quiet, we've got a few things to say.

First off, we'd like to thank you for a crazy year.

Between all the deadlines and stress- me, stress? ...never.

Um, yeah, never Jessie.

Okay, anyway, we actually made a yearbook.

Madness, so believe it or not, all this craziness has been for something real. You're holding it- this is it.

We started with name cards at your desks on the first day of school. Kind of cheesy-

But what do you expect? We're talking about Jessie here.

Think back to deadline one-

It seems like forever ago.

What, PageMaker? What's a pica? Even though you didnt know squat about yearbook, we pulled it off.

Ok, sure, we had a few late nights, but come on, we had some fun. What other class would you get shakers lessons in? By the way, Jessie's still trying

I just can't do it- my hips keep moving...maybe the coconut bra will help!

Anyway, over the past few years we've learned many important life skills and we'd like to pass them on...

Don't tack things on the ceiling, it just won't work

A cake in the face is good for the skin, it cleanses the pores.

...even though you may sneeze icing for the next few days

SimpleText, quick weeds, and dance parties relieve stress.

Aspire to be...PeeWee

Umm...no. Hawaiian shirts never go out of style.

Well actually...

Always have dirt on your staff members- yeah, you know who you are.

A daisy on the toe looks groovy in the shower.

6th and 7th period don't really count when you're a senior.

Take a half an hour in the bathroom.

Two Amannas are twice the fun.

Hard hats are totally necessary.

Nicknames like Skittles and Woody make wearing tie-dyed T-shirts more bearable. Susan, I'll show YOU juxtapose!

Ok, ok, seriously.

We really want to say goodbye.

To all the underclassmen, good luck on next years book-but you just can't top this Life.

And to all the seniors, the Class of '99-

We're done, so good luck with whatever's next.

Goodbye!

And peace out.

And a BIG thanks to...

We want to thank you for everything that you have done for us over the past year. Without your help, there'd be a heck of a lot more misstaks. We know it's been a long year, but we're DONE! We have so much that we would like to say to you... but we have to make it to the post office in twelve minutes. So...thanks.

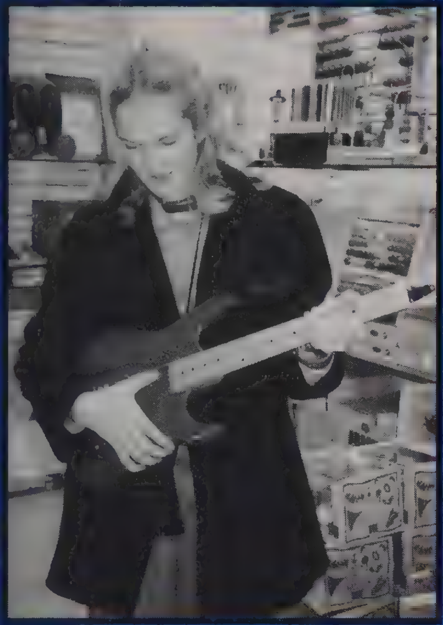
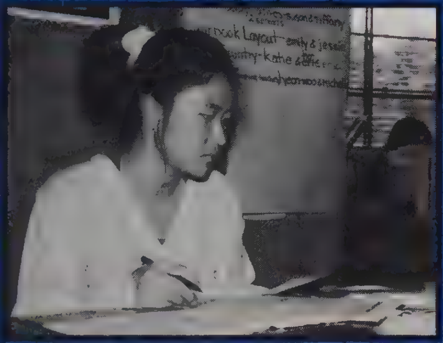
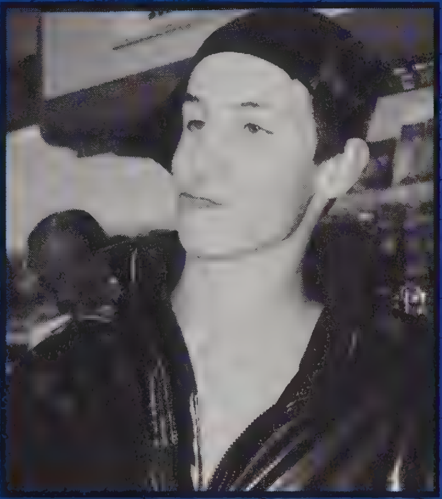
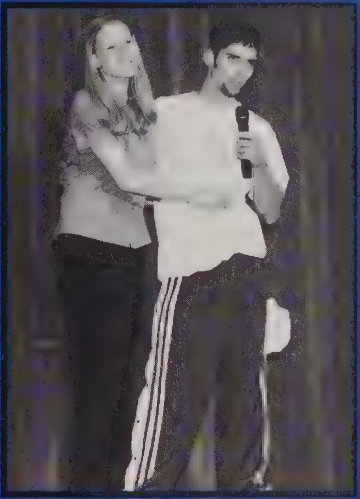
Yearbook





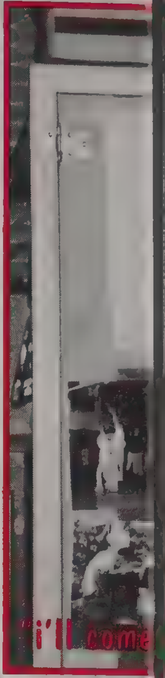




1999 Editors..

oh, my god, it's dark, i have to go home!!

woody and skittles



"i'll come

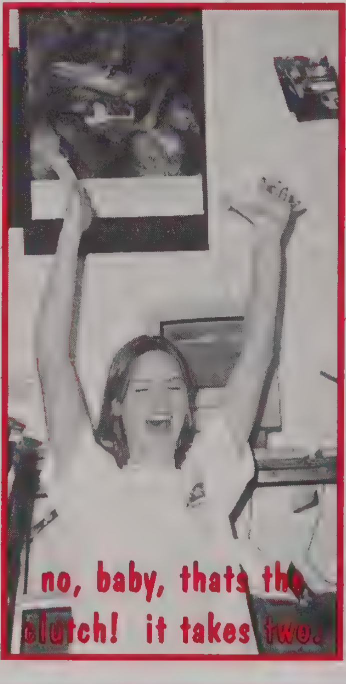
how'd you brake your leg?

apple peels are good!

rachel, will you be my date for the senior dinner dance?

i swear, it was consentual.

hey girls, pete's coming. see you after school.



no, baby, thats the clutch! it takes two.

as an editor if you..." i guess we owe you one.

Grrrr!

a true friend is tiffany marsh...umm, negative.

9 hours, 59 cars and a hard hat later- you're officially a yearbook nerd.

look we didn't forget your names, ruby tuesdays anyone?

...peace out
